SCOTTISH LETTER

GRAND MASTER MASON OF SCOTLAND

Edinburgh, Aug. 6.
The Duke of York was to-day nominated Grand Master Mason of Scotland at the quarterly communication of Grand Lodge in Edinburgh. Sir Iain Colquhoun, Grand Master Mason of Scotland, presided and made the nomination.

It was not generally anticipated that his Royal Highness would participate in any Masonic proceedings until his installation at the bi-centenary meeting of Grand Lodge in November, but he had expressed a desire to visit Grand Lodge so that he might familiarize himself with the procedure, and occasion was taken of to-day's quarterly meeting. Already a Provincial Grand Master under the English Constitution, the Duke of York recently became affiliated to a Scottish Lodge, Glamis, No. 99.

The Duke arrived in Edinburgh this morning from King's Cross and was entertained at luncheon by Sir Iain Colquhoun in the New Club, when the company included the following Past Grand Master Masons:—

The Duke of Atholl, 1909-13; Brigadier-General Sir Robert Gillmore, 1917-20; Lord Elgin, 1922-24; Lord Stair, 1925-26; Mr. A. A. Hagart-Speirs, 1929-31; Lord Belhaven and Stenton, 1931-33; and Lord Saltoun, 1933-35.

Among Grand Officers present at the meeting of Grand Lodge were:—

Brigadier-General Sir Norman Orr Ewing, Grand Master Deputy; Mr. W. S. Malloch, Substitute Grand Master; Lord Traprain, Senior Grand Warden; Captain J. C. Stewart, Junior Grand Warden; and Mr. J. S. M. Griev, Grand Director of Ceremonies.

The Duke of York, on entering the hall, was received with cheers. The Grand Master extended to him a cordial welcome. "We take it," he said, "a great compliment and signal honour that you should have expressed your desire to meet members of Grand Lodge prior to your installation as Grand Master Mason of Scotland in November. As Freemasons, we are deeply appreciative of your many services to the Craft. In a few months I trust it will be my happy duty to place in your hands the implement of authority. Till then I must regard you as a visiting brother and guest, and, as such, entitled to the highest Scottish privilege—that of a sure and very simple welcome. As the Grand Master of the assembled brethren and of Scottish Freemasons throughout the world, I greet you as Grand Master-designate of Scotland and assure you of our unalloyed devotion to yourself as a member of the Royal House, as a man, and as a brother." (Loud cheers.)

In reply, the Duke of York said: "I thank you for all you have said and for the welcome which has been given to me by the brethren of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. I do, indeed, feel proud of the great honour you have conferred on me, of electing me to succeed you as Grand Master Mason, and more especially on the occasion of the bi-centenary of Grand Lodge. I can assure you, brethren, I will do all in my power to uphold the great tradition of Scottish Freemasonry." (Cheers.)

FORTH ROAD BRIDGE DELAY

Scotland is becoming agitated by the Ministry of Transport's dilatoriness in reaching a decision about the proposed road bridge across the Forth.

Many Scots complain that the scheme is being held up for political considerations. Unfavourable contrasts are made with the Mersey tunnel. It is asserted that never before has a large and popular scheme, promoted in response to an unmistakable public demand, been subjected to such bureaucratic scrutiny.

The Lord Provost of Edinburgh has now issued a special appeal to Scottish members of Parliament to give the matter their urgent support. A Parliamentary question demanding a statement of the Government's policy has already been put down, though it cannot be answered until October 29.

This is the month when tens of thousands of English and foreign visitors tour Scotland by car, and have to submit to the vexatious delays of the ferry. I suggest that they should add their voices to Scotland's complaint, writes a correspondent.

TEACHING OF GAELIC IN SCHOOLS

I understand that steps are to be taken shortly for direct representations to be made to the Secretary of State for Scotland to give effect to the recommendations of the special committee of An Comunn Gaidhealach on the teaching of Gaelic in schools and colleges. Lord Strathcarron presided over the committee, and the recommendations include a more intensive teaching of the ancient language in schools, facilities for all children in the Highlands and Islands to be taught Gaelic if their parents desire it, and that the curriculum of secondary study of Gaelic should figure in schools even outwith the Highlands. The first step in bringing the recommendations to the notice of the Secretary of State will be made by Lord Strathcarron, and it is hoped that this may be followed by Sir Godfrey Collins and his educational advisers receiving a deputation of An Comunn Gaidhealach to discuss administrative or legislative action.

AIR EXERCISES IN LONDON

Many Bombing Raids Intercepted

London, Aug. 1.
A very high proportion of the "raids" in formation on London in the final day of the air defence exercises were intercepted by defensive aeroplanes.

The Air Ministry states that, of 20 raids by single night bombers, 15 were intercepted by fighters.

The co-operation of the anti-aircraft units and the Observer Corps in the exercise proved extremely valuable.

The Air Ministry announcement says that high praise is due to the members of the Observer Corps who were on duty during the night operations until four o'clock on Thursday morning and until Thursday midnight, when the exercises ended. The corps is largely composed of men who had been following their normal occupations during the day.

During the daylight period the weather conditions were favourable, with the exception of local fog and low cloud in the early morning. The first formation of 10 aircraft to attack approached the coast at 5,000ft, and was intercepted by a fighter squadron over Streat-ham.

During the next two raids, by formations of five and 10 machines, the defenders near Hornchurch were unable to leave the ground owing to mist. One of the raids was, however, afterwards attacked by a squadron from Biggin Hill.

Later, fog and low cloud hampered attackers and defenders equally.

Thirteen formations of aircraft attacked target near London. Of these raids, nine were high altitude raids up to 25,000ft and four were low flying raids.

The Territorial searchlights operated during the night period and were able to illuminate the majority of the raids.

ROYAL NAVY

VICE-ADMIRAL IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

Vice-Admiral Geoffrey Blake, C.B., D.S.O., whose selection to be Vice-Admiral Commanding the Battle Cruiser Squadron was announced in "The Times" on May 16, hoisted his flag in H.M.S. President for one day at the end of last to signify his return to full pay service. The date for formal taking up the command has now been fixed for August 12.

The Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth has been requested to arrange for the flag of Vice-Admiral Blake to be hoisted there in such ship as the Commander-in-Chief may select. Vice-Admiral Sidney R. Bailey, C.B., C.B.E., D.S.O., will strike his flag in H.M.S. Hood at sunset on August 12, and the flag of Vice-Admiral Blake will be transferred to the Hood on the following day.

Vice-Admiral Blake will assume the duties of Second-in-Command, Mediterranean Fleet, on his arrival on the Mediterranean Station, in succession to Vice-Admiral Sir Charles Forbes, K.C.B., D.S.O. Sir Charles Forbes has been Vice-Admiral Commanding 1st Battle Squadron, with his flag in H.M.S. Valiant; this post will lapse, but in its place there will be a Rear-Admiral, 1st Battle Squadron, for which Rear-Admiral T. H. Binney, C.B., D.S.O., has been selected.

NEW ZEALAND DIVISION

The New Zealand Government has decided that no further ratings of the Royal Navy can be accepted for permanent transfer to the New Zealand Division. This may be taken to be the outcome of the increase in local recruiting. In the last annual report, for 1934-35, it was stated that there were 477 ratings on the active list who had been recruited in New Zealand, and 19 Imperial ratings who had been accepted for permanent service in the New Zealand Division. These figures compared with 460 and 26 in the previous year.

H.M.S. COURAGEOUS

H.M.S. Courageous, Captain Boucher, D.S.O., is to remain with the Home Fleet, and not to proceed to the Mediterranean as recently arranged. The Courageous, although nominally part of the Home Fleet, was with the Mediterranean Fleet at Alexandria from September to February last, when she returned to Portsmouth for a refit, and the Glorious took her place as flagship of the Vice-Admiral, Aircraft Carriers.

REVIEW OF SERVICE CONDITIONS

The following subjects are to be regarded as outside the scope of the review of Service conditions which is to be held in all commands in September and October:—Matters of policy, such as the employment or distribution of training of the Fleet; matters of discipline, or the general arrangement of duties in the Service; and general scales of pay, to the extent that proposals for general all-round increases cannot be entertained.

COURSE FOR TELEGRAPHISTS

The following candidates have been selected to undergo the qualifying course for the rank of warrant telegraphist at H.M. Signal School, Portsmouth, beginning on Monday, October 5:—N. H. Pond, H.M.S. Pembroke; E. E. Blackwell, H.M.S. Dolphin; J. H. Hayes, H.M.S. Victory; F. R. Dore, H.M.S. Cormorant; G. I. R. Long, H.M.S. Enterprise; and R. Mellor, H.M.S. Dolphin.

POSTAL TRAFFIC AT OLYMPIAD

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special
Berlin, Aug. 22.

The German postal and telephone systems established records during the two weeks' festival in connection with the Olympic Games. Over 150,000,000 letters were sent from local post offices, six thousand postmen being engaged in this gigantic achievement. Over 200 auxiliary post offices were set up for the special Olympic stamps and hundreds were engaged night and day on this task alone.

No less imposing is the record for the telephone system, as over 1,000,000 long distance calls were registered and about 22,000,000 local calls.

That world-famous Medical Paper, "The Lancet," writes about the strengthening influence of Sanatogen:

"There is abundant evidence of the value of Sanatogen as a restorative and food, and more particularly in cases of general debility."

EDWARD THOMPSON'S THREE POINTS

THINGS TO FIGHT FOR

Oxford, August 3.

There is not likely to be a more striking session than the crowded one in which last night Mr. Edward Thompson, the author, asked the members to consider the question for what things would they—reluctantly and wretchedly as one undergoes an operation—fight. Nor are we likely to hear any more brilliantly phrased denunciation of the Government. Mr. Thompson spoke some five or six thousand words, but his main points stand out clearly.

No one questioned, he said, the depth and mournful sincerity of the Prime Minister's love of peace, but after all Mr. Baldwin was the head of a Government which he was every day more convinced had thrown our safety away.

Pacifism had already increased our peril. People abroad thought that the Oxford resolution and the hundred thousand signatures of the Dick Sheppard pledge meant that our young men really would not fight. Foreign nations exaggerated British pacifism, but the pledges had a significance, as our own Government was also uneasily aware. If war came popular anger against "conchies" would be greater than in 1917. Extreme pacifists had considered this as the early Christians considered the consequences of the anger of Caesar, but this thought of jury on one side and intransigence on the other did not make us happier.

ABYSSINIA

Mr. Thompson saw in the happenings in Abyssinia: a warning that there would be little mercy for an unresisting people and he stressed Sir Archibald Sinclair's point that there could be no appealing over a dictator's head or, as Mr. Thompson preferred it, "under his feet." World opinion could not help. In deciding what were the things for which he would fight Liberal opinion might be decisive. Two chances of collective security had been thrown away by the mishandling of the Japanese and Italian aggression. He feared another war might be necessary before another chance could come.

The things for which he thought he would fight were three:

1. Our pledged word; though we did not now believe in Germany's sole guilt for the last war, he did not see that in 1914 we could have done other than we did.
2. The defenceless peoples of our Empire, for, with all the faults of Britain, we did give freedom official recognition and there was always a chance that a doctrine officially accepted would one day be put into practice.
3. Self-defence, for which we should quickly find ourselves fighting whatever the cause of the war.

FRANCE

In the opinion of the nation no promise at present stood in its name, collective security and Locarno having gone. A promise by this Government to support collective security would not now be believed. He felt we must give a pledge to France of support against unprovoked attack. That was largely self-defence, and was probably the only promise the nation would now stand to. The only chance of escape was to cease to close the Empire with a ring fence. While Liberals might not endorse the details, he hoped they would reinforce the essentials of the proposals made by the Fabian Research Bureau, and to be moved at the Labour Conference, to pledge refusal of any support of war unless an all-European non-aggression and mutual assistance treaty were ratified and disarmament and world economic conferences reconvened, the arms industry were nationalised, and a peace Act passed.

"BOGUE ELEPHANT"

The Government were unmoved by public opinion. They sat tight whenever an unusually high wave swept over the ship and then kept it on its course. Nothing but a miracle could save us from being presented with a war and being plaintively asked what we were going to do about it. The Government was the most dangerous thing since the American Revolution, and had to be treated as a bogue elephant was treated—it must be got between two sane ones. It must be given the most unmistakeable assistance in doing what it seemed incapable of doing for itself—making up its mind. Here was the work for the Popular Front.

The school was somewhat taken by surprise by about half the speakers supporting pacifism. The chairman, Mr. Wilfrid Roberts, asked whether pacifism was the subject, ruled that speakers were entitled to say they would not fight for anything. Among the non-pacifist speakers one criticised Mr. Thompson's pessimism and made a protest which Mr. Thompson later endorsed against our taking the humiliation of the collective security failure too exclusively to ourselves. Another declared that pacifists shared with Mr. Baldwin the blame for the present position. Mr. Wilfrid Roberts still believed that if we were resolute there need be no war. Mr. Thompson said he had been warned that the subject might split the Liberal party again. The Government had not failed merely because it was Conservative. A Government led by Mr. Churchill would be a bad Government, but what it said it would do. The chairman, in opening, quoted Mr. Baldwin's statement the other day that if war came again we deserved to perish. Personally he thought that was too sweeping. (Laughter.)

AIR MENACE

Captain Philip S. Mumford, speaking on the air menace, said he could not share some people's optimistic scepticism about the probability of the often-predicted devastating attacks from the air on the civil population. Foch had been quoted as having said that such attacks would be prevented by fear of retaliation. "Fear of reprisals," said Captain Mumford, "had never prevented war being fought with the deepest intensity. I believe there is enough in it to make it possible to falsify the suggestion that the capitalists of belligerent countries will lie in smoking ruins within a few hours of the declaration of war or even before it. But it does not make much difference. In due course these capitalists will be attacked. When a country begins to feel its national existence is at stake it will not refrain from using any weapon available." And Captain Mumford recognised that there was something in the argument that if war must be fought the most humane thing was to fight it with such vigour as to end it as soon as possible.

The tendency to discount the importance of the air arm was increased by inter-service jealousy. It had been said that in another war hostile aeroplanes would only meet each other by accident or mutual agreement. Their business would be with the non-combatants. To prove the uselessness of anti-aircraft guns Captain Mumford reminded the school that we could not shoot a shell out of a gun any faster than during the late war. Planes travelled much faster. And during the late war anti-aircraft guns did comparatively little damage except to things and people on the ground.

"I do not think that in the future you will be able to fight great wars. The one reason that has kept masses of men in the trenches for any length of time has been the belief that they were defending their homes. If that is made impossible the sternest discipline will not keep men from going back."

"Unfortunately, though it would be impossible to fight a big war, it would not be impossible to try. The outbreak of war would be followed by civil destruction and something much worse than Fascism."

The need for internationalisation of aviation had been realised even before the war, and there had been several conferences about it. The "parcelling of the heavens" did not begin till the war was over. The one part of the Disarmament Conference that came near to success was the air commission. Even Japan and the United States were willing to submit civil aviation to control. The one country that was not was our own.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine"

Based upon one of the most famous stories of the early and rough life of the nineteenth century in America, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," a Paramount picture which opened a season at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres
on Saturday to crowded audiences, has suffered considerably at the hands of the particularly lavish production with a plethora of sets and buckets of mawkish sentimentality.

Ranking as one of the most famous colour-film productions of the century, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is interesting enough, but the first section which gives every indication of a thoroughly gripping and entertaining drama of the feud-ridden back country of Virginia, gradually withers before the withering influence of sob-stuff and gun play.
There is, however, much vigour in the show, and Fred MacMurray and Henry Fonda seem to supply the answer to the boxing promoter's prayer. They certainly scrap well, and if that be a redeeming feature, then the latter part of this picture is thus almost retrieved from dreariness.

Sylvia Sidney does her best with the temperamentally difficult part of June Tolliver, but she does not enhance her reputation.

Without doubt one of the best performers is a fine collie dog, but he does not even get a mention in the cast of characters.
This production, which is interesting rather than entertaining, will continue at the Queen's and the Alhambra Theatres until Tuesday.

"THE LOVE PARADE"

The ten hit songs featured in
"The Love Parade" can be said to come "out of the night." Victor Schertzinger, who wrote the ten songs for "The Love Parade," does his composing in his home high above Hollywood—at night.

It is his method to work on his music at night, laboring through the dark hours and sometimes past dawn. All his musical compositions have their inception while he is at his desk, working only with pen and paper. Later he develops his melodies on his violin, fills in the harmonies at his piano and works out his orchestrations at the pipe organ.

It was just such a procedure that was followed in composing of such numbers from "The Love Parade" as "Dream Lover," "My Love
Parade," "Nobody's Using it
Now," and seven other popular hits.

Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette Mac-Donald, Lupino Lane and Lillian Holt head the stellar cast of principals in "The Love Parade," the feature attraction at the Star theatre, to-day.
"The Love Parade" is the story of the affairs d'amour of a queen of a mythical kingdom, played by Jeanette MacDonald, who falls in love and marries a prince, Maurice Chevalier. Their comical marital life, the troubles of a prince, consort and general life in the palace form the background for this re-licking musical romance.

RAID FROM THE SKIES

Precautions Taken
In London

Methods of safeguarding factories and business premises and their staffs in the event of air raids were explained by a Home Office expert to 1,200 business men in London on July 28. The meeting was arranged by the London
Chamber of Commerce.

Sir Stephen Dometriadis, president of the Chamber, emphasised that the meeting was not an indication of panic. They took the view that to be prepared now was to avert panic later.

Col. W. Garforth, of the Air Raid Precautions Department of the Home Office, made the following points in his speech:

The main dangers from air attack would undoubtedly be incendinary bombs, high-explosive bombs —mainly of 500lb.—and gas bombs.
The average warning of an air raid would be from seven to 10 minutes.

Poison gas need not be feared if the population knew how to deal with it.

Incendiary bombs, Col. Garforth said, would range in size from 2lb 3oz—the kilo bomb—to perhaps 60lb. The one chiefly to be feared was the kilo bomb which they might expect to find freely used.
This could penetrate light roofing,
such as slates or corrugated iron,
and could not be extinguished by water or ordinary extinguishers.

The best way to deal with them was to have a quantity of earth or sand sprinkled on the roof, and a shovel kept ready so that the bomb could be picked up and dropped into water to fizzle out,
and the earth and sand used to put out the surrounding fire.

SAFETY OF NEW MASK

"There is nothing to fear from poison gas," said Col. Garforth.
"If you know how to deal with it
—how to use your gas mask and how to make your room gas-proof.
If you do not know how to deal with it you go under very quickly."
He had been asked a good many times if the gas mask which was to be issued to the public was really safe.

"I can only say this," he said, "I would take any one of you with your wife and with my own wife, into a chamber filled with a far more deadly concentration of gas than would be met with in war,
and guarantee to bring you out safely by the use of the mask."

Bombs containing liquid gas varied in weight up to 250lb. The gas lay low on the ground.
High-explosive bombs might weight anything from 3,000lb to 25lb.

The common weapon of future war would probably be bombs of the 500lb. type. The only protection from these would be in a dugout 50ft. underground, or in a surface shelter with a roof of not less than 15ft. of reinforced concrete.

The principal danger from these bombs, apart from a direct hit,
was from splinters.

Various forms of earthwork protection were advocated in cases where there was no cellar or basement. Earthworks would have to be at least 2ft. 6in. thick to provide protection.

In the case of single-story buildings, where vacant land was available, an ordinary trench with a dug-out was the best form of shelter. The dugout could be made gas-tight.

In all cases shelters should have independent lighting, food supplies, and sanitary arrangements, and, if possible, wireless. Ventilation must not be overlooked. It was calculated that an unventilated room 10ft. by 10 would accommodate six people for five or six hours.

"FANG AND CLAW"

A picture replete with the thrills of the jungle is enacted in the film, "Fang and Claw," now showing at the King's Theatre. Frank Buck, of "Bring 'em back alive" fame, has scored another scoop in the animal kingdom with this production by Van Beuren.

More than two thousand animals,
and five thousand birds were captured by Buck on his recent expedition, and they were brought back to America for various zoological collections.

The most interesting among them furnished the action for "Fang and Claw," the chief among them being the capture of two pythons barehanded, each about twenty-eight feet in length.
In what is still another episode full of surprise, a tiger stalks and springs upon a baby rhinoceros

POET LAUREATE'S
CONFESSION

London, August 3.

Mr. John Masefield, the Poet Laureate, stated last night that even now he found difficulty in words all that his brain perceived.

Mr. Masefield gave a reading of some of his poems to the Liberal Summer School at Oxford, and before doing so said:—

"I have tried many things without making much success of them.
I wanted to be a writer and I did not want to be anything else. I set my heart on being a writer and gradually attained the ability to set something of what I saw in my brain.

"Many people start writing in the belief that they will quite easily set down all that they perceive. I have found that that belief is not justified in my case.
From my infancy I perceived things which I could not set down.
I felt thwarted and defeated, and could not achieve one-tenth or one-twentieth of what I set out to do."

VISITORS TO SHANGHAI

Japanese Composer's Intentions

Shanghai, Aug. 19.
Mr. Tomojuro Takahama, who studied musical composition at the Conservatoire Nationale de Musique in Paris for the last eight years, was a visitor to Shanghai on Monday and Tuesday as the N.Y.K.
liner Hakusan Maru, on which he is going home, stopped here.

The son of Mr. Kiyoshi Taka-hama, known as a leading exponent of the art of composing "haiku," Japanese 17-syllable poems, young Mr. Takahama intends to devote himself to the creation of a form of Japanese music best adapted for rendition on occidental instruments, according to the Japanese press.

Aboard the same ship were a group of six students from the Tokyo Commercial College who have completed a tour of Formosa, French Indo-China, Siam and the Straits Settlements. During their stay in Bangkok they made a special study of the power-welded system in Siam by Chinese residents.
The party is to sail for Japan by the s.s. Nagasaki Maru this morning.

Another passenger was Mr. Shogo Ishihashi, procurator of the Tainan, Formosa, District Court, who is studying the Chinese judicial system. After a ten-day stay in Shanghai, he is planning to visit
Nanking, Hong Kong, and Canton.

My dear, it is with joy I see
You have obtained a law degree
With merit and renown.
Success for you I can foretell.

COWES WEEK

London, Aug. 2.

Despite the absence of the Royal Family there is every prospect that Cowes Week, which opens tomorrow, will be a big success again this year. There are 113 yachts entered for the different races during the week, and more moorings have been laid down for vessels lying in the roads for the regatta than even last year, when the Jubilee lent a special atmosphere to the occasion. The yachting people are convinced that before long King Edward will acquire a yacht, but it is recognised that he is hardly likely to do so until the controversy about the design of the big-class cutters is more or less settled.

The King is admittedly less interested in the sport than was his father. Indeed, the most active of the younger members of the Royal Family at Cowes has been the Duchess of York, who thoroughly enjoyed her days afloat in the Britannia. Her interest has certainly been welcome to the growing number of women owners who steer their own craft in the racing boats that are now taking an active part in yachting organisation. Mrs.
Cecil Brownlow has been elected vice-commander of the Lynton Yacht Club and Miss Evelyn Moreton is this year commander of the Redwing class, delightful little boats that are particularly popular with yachtwomen.

There will only be four cutters competing for the King's Cup this year, but the entries for Queen Mary's Cup total twelve. Both races are to be sailed next Tuesday.

If you take up the law as well
As you can lay it down.

CABLES "SWENHON"

ACCUSED MAN PLEADS POVERTY

Charge Of Fraudulent
Conversion

Stating that he was driven to it by poverty a man who had received $35 a month for the past five years, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment at the Kowloon Police Court on Saturday on a charge of fraudulent conversion of $1,244.88.

The accused, Lam Chan, 29 years of age, pleaded that he had a family to support and his means of subsistence was insufficient.

The prosecution, represented by Mr. M.A. da Silva, alleged that the money was received by Lam on behalf of the Wong Tong Kee timber firm, while he was in their employ.

Of this amount $971.37 was paid by Messrs. Butterfield and Swire and the remainder by Cheong Hing, Tailors.

Mr. Silva asked that a serious view be taken of the case. The thefts were deliberate and not the outcome of sudden temptation. The first fraud was perpetrated between September 4 and October 12, last year, while the second offence occurred on September 28, last.

Lam was arrested on August 20 "on the point of leaving the Colony," it was believed.

Sub-Inspector A. Kinneer, of the Water Police C.I.D., was present for the police.

BOMB-THROWERS ON TEN CHARGES

Missile Tossed by Mistake at Club

APOLOGY TENDERED

As the S.M. Police preferred more charges against the eight Chinese recently rounded up on suspicion of being members of the terrorist gang known as the "Bloody Corps for the Extirpation of Traitors," making it impossible to conclude the case on August 18, the question of whether the eight men should be handed over to the Lungwa Garrison Commissioner's office remained unsettled yesterday afternoon when the alleged gang appeared before the First Special District Court for the fourth time since their arrest.

Including the two additional charges preferred yesterday, a total of ten charges have been specified against the alleged terrorists up to the present. The charges made yesterday were to the effect that, on April 29, 1933, the accused threw a bomb into the premises of a piece of goods shop situated at 43 Wushui Road, and that, on August 22, the same year, several of the accused went to 445 Kwangsi Road where they tossed a bomb into the Sung Tsang Chinese Club.

In connection with the outrage at the Sung Tsang Chinese Club, Mr. Y. D. Wong, Assistant Municipal Advocate, prosecuting, told the Court that the bomb was originally intended for the premises of a Chinese mosquito newspaper known as the "Dong Fong Jih Pao," but, by mistake, it was thrown into the office of the Sung Tsang Club which was situated in the same building as the mosquito newspaper. After the outrage, the members of the club received a letter apologizing for the bomb-throwing and saying it was a mistake.

It was revealed at yesterday's hearing that the men in custody were responsible for three bombing outrages committed at the Tung Tsong Shing Iron Mongers Shop, Fokien Road, in October and November, 1932, and that the shop received two threatening letters which were delivered a few minutes before each outrage was committed. The accused pleaded guilty to all of the charges against them and implicated one Tang Tse-ten as the man who had instigated them to commit the crimes.

A representative from the Lungwa Garrison Commissioner's office protested against the prolonged hearing in the Settlement Court and requested that two of the accused be handed over to Lungwa immediately for questioning, but Judge Tien adjourned the hearing till Saturday and mentioned he would give a ruling on the question of extradition at the next hearing.

UNREGISTERED MUI TSAI

First Case Under New Ordinance

DEFENDANT PLEADS
IGNORANCE

Under the new Mui Tsai Ordinance, one of first cases to be tried was that of Tang La-wah, who was sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment without the option by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court on Saturday when she was charged with keeping an unregistered mui tsai, Leung Foon, aged 10, at No. 175, Queen's Road West on August 20.

Inspector H.W. Fraser stated that the girl had been presented for $100. She was very dirty dressed and did the house work in the kitchen.

Defendant pleaded that she bought the girl to look after the house, and further said that she did not know the regulations.

Inspector Fraser replied that the ordinance had been recently translated and published in the Chinese newspapers. He added that the girl, though she had had sufficient food, had complained of being beaten at times. She had been examined but no marks were found on the body.

BOY KILLED

A boy, Cheng Ming Yuen, aged nine years, was killed as the result of being knocked down by a motor vehicle in Wing Lok Street near Morrison Street yesterday morning.

The report was made to the police by Ng Yiu, driver of the vehicle, who stated that the lad ran out in front of the car.

CHINESE HONOURED

In recognition of services rendered by Mr. Lam Chi-fang during the negotiations of the Sino-Indo Chinese Convention, the Emperor of Annam has conferred on him the decoration of a Knight of the Dragon of Annam.

SOVIET-JAPANESE FRIENDSHIP

Non-Aggression Accord Urged
By Retiring Envoy

Japan should give sympathetic consideration to a scheme for the conclusion of a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia, should the latter agree to withdraw her troops now concentrated on the borders of Manchukuo, Mr. Tamekichi Ohta, retiring envoy to the Kremlin, told his colleagues on August 17.

Mr. Ohta voiced his opinion at a meeting of officials of the Gaimusho, when, it is understood, he stressed that there was no question existing between Japan and the Soviet Union that required recourse to arms for solution.

The ambassador also reviewed the Franco-Soviet pact of mutual assistance, the recent Anglo-Soviet trade agreement and the relations of China with the U.S.S.R.—Domel.

JEWELLERY STOLEN

Female Servant
Sentenced

Theft of jewellery valued at $294 and $7 in cash, was brought at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday against a woman, Ko Pat, 18, said to have been employed as an amah to look after five children at No. 43 Bute Street.

Mr. E. Himsforth (Magistrate) was informed that the girl only received $1.50 a month as wages.

According to Det-Sergt. R. R. Ellis the girl was engaged eight months ago by the complainant, Lau Fung. The key to the cash box was usually kept under the mattress. At 2.30 p.m. she discovered that the key and jewellery were missing, and her servant had disappeared.

Five days later Ko Pat was arrested on information received. The stolen money and $68 worth of jewellery were not recovered. Defendant was sentenced to five weeks' hard labour.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

ARRESTED MAN TO FACE COURT

Disturbance on the stairway of a house in Tong Mei Street, lead to the arrest of a man purporting to be a purchaser of rice.

It was stated in a police report that Mok Chiu, of No. 6, Argyle Street, received an order to deliver a sack of rice, valued at $1.50. He was requested to bring the rice and $3.50 as change for a $5 bill which was to be paid as payment for the rice. When half way up the stairs of Tong Mei Street, the foki was set upon by two men. The foki raised an alarm and one of the men was arrested.

It is understood that the arrested man will be brought before the Police Court this morning.

ROTARY CONVENTION

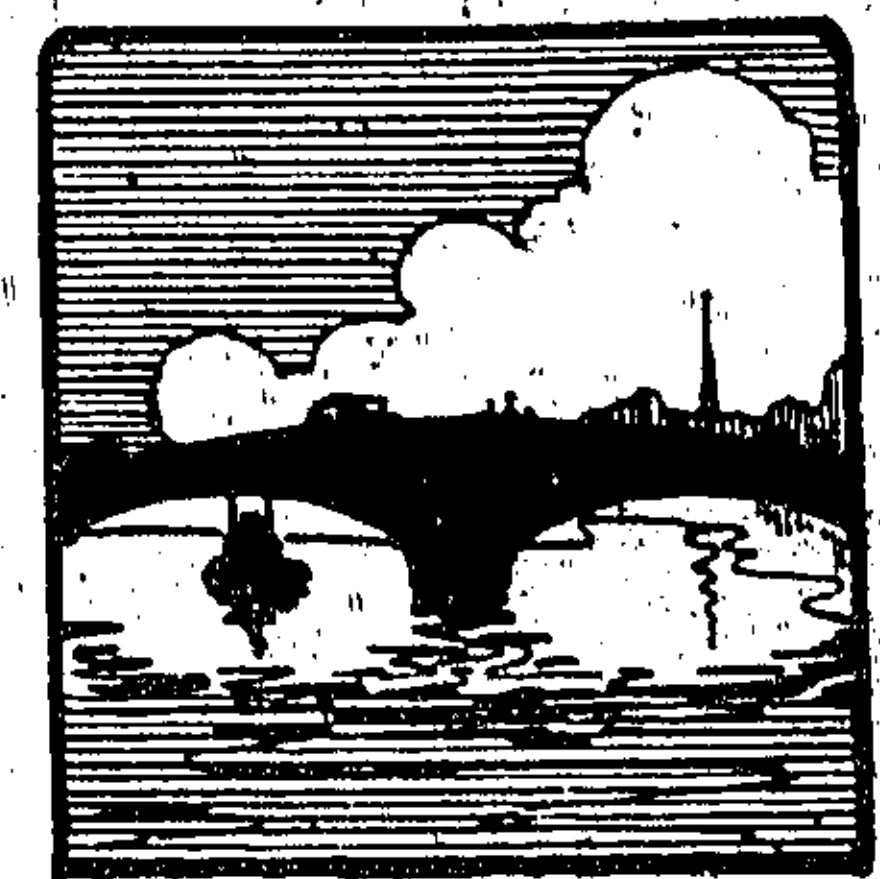

The annual Rotary convention will be held at Nice, France, next year, instead of at London according to a decision of the board of governors of the organization who were asked by the London club to withdraw the British invitation, hoping for postponement to 1938, in view of the closeness of the coronation ceremony of King Edward, which make the London hotel situation very uncertain for the anticipated attendance of 8,000 Rotarians from throughout the world.

THEFT FROM FORT

Claiming that they had been blown off by the typhoon, an unemployed, Chan Choi, 39 years of age, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday for theft of six sheets of galvanised iron from Beacon Fort Hill.

Sergt. Nolan said that an Indian constable saw accused with the iron and was taken to the fort by Chan. Two saws, two chisels and a hammer were found in accused's possession. Q.M.S. West appeared as the complainant.

JAPANESE NAVAL ESTIMATES

Enormous Sum
Demanded

FURTHER BUILDING
UNDER CONSIDERA-TION

Setting a new high mark in draft naval appropriations, the Navy Ministry recently revealed that it would try to secure ¥770,000,000 to spend in the 1937-38 fiscal year that begins on April 1 next year. This sum is ¥68,000,000 more than what the service originally sought last year.

Included, according to navy officials, are ¥430,000,000 listed as basic expenditures and ¥340,000,000 classified as new demands. The latter comprise appropriations for the construction of battleships and of auxiliary vessels to cope with the "treacherous" situation which 1937 will usher in; the maintenance and modernization of existing vessels; the organization of additional aircraft squadrons; and the replenishment of armament and munition stocks.

Observers pointed out, however, that while the Navy asked for ¥712,000,000 to spend this fiscal year it was allotted but ¥552,000,000 after various estimates had been pared down after prolonged discussion—Domel.

TREASURY'S APPEAL

Dr. Eiichi Baba, Japan's harassed Minister of Finance, on August 18 besought his colleagues heading the armed services from planning further raids on already depleted national treasury.

He made his plea at a special meeting with Gen. Count Hasegawa Terauchi, War Minister, and Admiral Osami Nagano, Navy Minister, called by Mr. Koki Hirota, the Premier, following the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Cabinet.

Stating that while he realized the need for increased naval and land armaments in view of the present "international" situation, Dr. Baba is reliably reported to have urged moderation on the part of the armed services so that the projected enforcement of the various new national policies and the compilation of a new budget may "proceed smoothly."

ALCOHOL MONO- POLY FOR JAPAN

Government Proposal
for Control of Liquors

THREE MINISTRIES
FAVOUR NEW IDEA

Japanese may soon buy their alcoholic drinks from the Government, as they now buy their tobacco. This prospect grew on August 17 as three Governmental units came to an agreement on the desirability of the creation of an alcohol monopoly. Interested are the Ministry of Finance, which sees a new source of revenue in the scheme; the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, which favours the step as a means to push its "national fuel policy," and the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry which looks upon it as a measure to solve the vexing problem of controlling rice prices.

Simultaneously with the creation of an alcohol monopoly, the Ministry of Commerce and Industry intends to enforce a law requiring the compulsory mixing of alcohol with gasoline as a fuel. This, officials contend, would decrease the use of gasoline, which is mostly imported. By controlling "sake" prices, through the projected monopoly, the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry expects that it will be able to further tighten its control on rice quotations. "Sake," a fermented drink, is made from the best Japanese rice—Domel.

Gen. Terauchi and Admiral Nagano are understood to have explained the requirements of their respective branches during the coming fiscal year and to have made suggestions as to how new revenue may be obtained.

The meeting was preceded by a short address by Mr. Hirota during which he announced that four points would govern the projected reform programme of his government. These, he said, were: 1. The perfection of national defence. 2. The reform of the present taxation system with increased devices in the upper brackets. 3. The promotion of commerce and industry. 4. The stabilization of the nation's livelihood—Domel.

COMMUNIST TERROR IN SPAIN

VIVID FIRST-HAND ACCOUNT

GOVERNMENT'S DESPERATE BID TO CONTROL MOB

Wild Excesses Follow Extremist Victory In Barcelona

Perpignan, Aug. 1.

"The Daily Telegraph" publishes below the most remarkable first-hand account that has yet been received from Barcelona of the events which followed the Fascist rising in Catalonia. In this province the revolt was speedily suppressed, and the eye-witness narrative describes the scenes of terror which followed the victory of the Communists and Anarchists.

The message gives an authoritative survey of the military positions of the Government and anti-Government forces.

A traveller who has to-day come out of Spain, having spent the early days of the Civil War in Barcelona, gave me a graphic story of events there. I give his statement in his own words, writes a correspondent.

The assassination of Calvo Sotelo nearly a fortnight ago seems to have precipitated the revolt of the army against the Republican Government, which well-informed persons believe was planned to have taken place a little later.

There seems reason to suppose that, if the army could have waited a little longer, the situation would have compelled the Government to invite it to take control. The military leaders would then have figured as the saviours of their country.

In face of the prospect of a Fascist military dictatorship, however, all the Left elements took up arms. Most powerful among are the C.N.T.—Confederation of Workers—and the P.A.I.—Federation of Anarchists—who bore the brunt of the fighting in Barcelona.

The anti-Government troops, and the artillery which supported them, were subdued within two days.

FASCISTS OVERPOWERED

The Civil Guards, although a force with Right sympathies, preserved its tradition of standing by the official Government. The Assault Guards, another force of armed police, also declared for the Government.

Against such powerful—if rather incongruous—partnership the Fascists could not hope to survive. Their artillery was "rushed" by the Communists and Anarchists, and although a pitched battle raged for most of one night in the Plaza de Catalunya the opposition, apart from snipers on the rooftops, was wiped out by Monday, July 20.

The Catalan Parliament gave arms, without asking any questions, to all who asked for them. All private cars were confiscated and used by armed mobs to patrol the streets.

When some friends and I were returning late on the night of the outbreak, we were shouted at to stop by some workmen. Not then being fully aware of the course of events, we drove on, whereupon the men opened fire on us. A taxi swerved in front of us to bring us to a halt. Four men, all armed, searched us for weapons and appropriated the car.

BLAZING CHURCHES

The opposition in Barcelona being disposed of and the streets full of armed bands in luxurious private cars, the attention of the Anarchists turned to the destruction of the churches, monasteries and convents. Every religious institution in the city, except the Cathedral and two others which were appropriated by the Government, was set on fire, and on the night of Tuesday, July 21, myself counted 18 simultaneous fires.

The streets were almost deserted except for these armed bands in cars, and all shops and businesses were shut. No railways, trams, taxis, buses or private cars were running.

Carloads of men passed by the side of the few pedestrians, and levelled their rifles at them until they gave the Communist salute—a raised, clenched fist.

One monastery just off the famous Avenida de Aloril XIV, resisted, by mobs. Immediately about 250 men collected in cars and drove in close to the walls with cans of petrol. Twelve men ran in and poured the petrol over the furniture in the ground-floor rooms.

The monks were firing from the roofs, and, although they shot five of the attackers the remaining seven succeeded in setting fire to the petrol and escaping back to their cars. Machine-guns then opened fire on the defending monks, still firing from the roof, two of whom crashed to the street.

MONKS MURDERED

When part of the building fell in about half a dozen monks made a run for it. They were literally hacked to pieces by the people.

Evidence of mutilation of nuns and priests was to be had on every hand. I came across large piles of dead, composed of nuns, horses and men, stacked in the centre of the plaza, where they were set on fire.

In the churches, convents and monasteries which they have sacked the Anarchists have not permitted the salvage of any of the magnificent silver. In one church alone several panels by Goya, worth many thousands of pounds, were destroyed.

On the one wall left standing in a gutted church was a large stone statue of the Virgin Mary. It was the practice of most of the carloads of workers to take shots at the figure as they passed.

Most of these cars contained women in red dresses, and with red handkerchiefs on their heads—all of them carrying revolvers.

The dead in Barcelona alone are officially given at 1,000, but a doctor to whom I spoke as he returned from one of the emergency hospitals, where he had been on duty for three days and nights, reported that the figure was much higher and that there were at least 3,000 wounded.

Many of the wounds were self-inflicted, as many of the men had never before seen the Winchester rifles with which they were armed. They kept their fingers always on the trigger even when motoring over bumpy roads.

RECKLESS DRIVING

The streets are full of magnificent cars—Rolls Royces and Hispano Suizas—lying on their sides, burnt out, or piled up against trees.

The old bull ring is being used as a dumping place for the hundreds of wrecked cars. It is evident that the present occasion is the first experience of driving enjoyed by the majority of the Barcelona mob.

The number of dumped cars is being rapidly increased. To go round a corner on more than two wheels is, apparently, interpreted as an admission of Fascist sympathies.

The famous Hotel Colon is partly destroyed by gun fire, while the Ritz and the fashionable Equestrian Club have been taken over by working men and women. The windows in the club, formerly reserved for the richest men in Barcelona, are now filled by hordes of workers, shouting to their friends in the street.

The Government is faced with the problem of getting some thousands of drunk, armed men off the streets. So far they have dealt with the problem by selecting significantly small forces, composed of extremists only, to go out against the rebel stronghold of Saragossa.

YOUTHS MOWN DOWN

As might be expected, the trained soldiers have had little difficulty in mowing down these wild youths. It is reported that out of the first 300 sent out 42 are living.

DR. MONTGOMERY RETURNS

Gordon Lum Also A Passenger

Dr. J.H. Montgomery, Medical Superintendent of the Matilda Hospital, arrived in the Colony from leave on the a.s. Conte Verde on Saturday. Other local residents were Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Lovell.

Several Hong Kong University students, arrived by the same vessel for the new term which commences shortly, among these being:

Mr. Wilson Heng, Mr. Liew Fatt, Mr. Liew Yuen-choon, Mr. Thong Poh-nien, Mr. Hooi Peng-kwan, Mr. Lim Meng-liang, Mr. Loong Yok-kan, Mr. Lim Meng-sai, Mr. Hue Kwan-lun and Mr. Lum Sai-keong, all of whom embarked at Singapore.

Mr. Gordon Lum, the China Davis Cup star was one of the prominent passengers. On board the Conte Verde, Lum, together with Kho Sin-kie and Guy Cheng, represented China against France in the first round, and after a credible display were beaten by the latter by five matches to nil.

Following the unsuccessful European debut of China in the Davis Cup, the players took part individually in several tournaments, in some of which Lum, in particular, achieved noteworthy success.

Mr. C.H. Unbehauim, of the Hume Pipe (Far East) Ltd., was another passenger from Singapore who disembarked here.

Many were killed before they reached Saragossa by Aragonese peasants, to whom the idea of Catalans invading Aragon is quite sufficient excuse to kill without any political consideration.

The fourth of these columns left to-day. There are now notably fewer cars full of armed men on the streets.

It is to be anticipated that the P.A.I. and the C.N.T. may begin to suspect the sincerity of the motive in giving them the honour of leading the advance, which has so far been accorded exclusively to their followers. A quarrel between the Government and their extremist supporters seems to be only a question of time.

The fact that the Civil Guards would be only too pleased to support the Government against the extremists is no doubt a potent factor in postponing the split.

The private houses of those suspected of military or religious sympathies are now being sacked. In addition, churches not satisfactorily destroyed earlier are being refired.

The British Consulate has changed its recommendation to leave to a definite order to do so. This is, presumably, because recently an employee of the American Consulate and an English employee of the Ford Motor Works in Barcelona, who was accompanying him, were both killed in the street.

They were engaged in an official mission for the American Consul, evacuating Americans to the harbour. When stopped they are stated to have reached in their pockets for their official papers.

This gesture the gunmen interpreted as reaching for their guns. They were, therefore, shot dead at point-blank range.

ITALIAN DEMAND

It is not generally known that when men from the British cruiser London landed and marched to the Consulate they were shot at when fixing a wireless aerial on the roof. No one was wounded.

The Italian Consulate was partially destroyed, and it is stated that Mussolini has demanded £500 compensation. Spaniards are asking it, in the event of the Italian warship lying outside the harbour falling to collect this sum.

Signor Mussolini may make it an excuse to take over the Balearic Islands—an ideal naval base.

The crowds, now being unable to find any genuine opposition in the town, are busy working off old grudges against employers.

To my certain knowledge more than a dozen prominent business men in Barcelona have been called upon by a deputation of their ex-workers. All of them were declared to have Fascist sympathies, and are now "missing."

The committees of the C.N.T. and P.A.I. are taking over control of all businesses. The electricity and power company, Riazos y Fuenza, the Ford Motor Works and most of the cinema firms have been seized, and the late managers instructed to carry on while armed.

ORDINANCES AMENDED

Sanitation And Food

RIGHT OF APPEAL EXTENSION

The "Gazette" contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Public Health (Food) Ordinance, 1935.

Clause 2 of this Bill amends the definitions of dairy, dairyman and milk shop. The new definitions of "dairy" and "dairyman" are practically identical with the similar definitions in the Milk and Dairies (Consolidation) Act, 1915. In the light of the experience gained since the passing of the Ordinance, it is considered that the new definitions are more suitable to the conditions in the Colony.

The amendment in clause 3 restores to the Chairman of the Urban Council a power which he formerly possessed as Head of the Sanitary Department. It is considered that the reversion to him of this power will simplify matters from the administrative point of view.

SEIZED FOOD

Under section 4 (5) of the principal Ordinance an article of food seized as being unwholesome was required to be kept for a period which might be as long as forty-eight hours. The magistrate also had power to disallow the seizure and restore the article to its owner. In practice this section is unworkable, owing to the difficulty of keeping food, particularly unwholesome food, for any length of time. Clause 4 of the Bill reduces the period within which applications must be made to the magistrate from forty-eight hours to twenty-four hours and also substitutes for the power of the magistrate to restore the article a power to order compensation. Consequently, section 4 (6) will be repealed by clause 5 of the Bill.

The amendment in clause 6 enables fees to be charged in connection with every matter with regard to which the Council has power to make by-laws under section 5 of the principal Ordinance.

The new section 10 added by clause 7 gives a power of arrest in the absence of a police officer similar to the power of arrest given under section 16 of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, No. 15 of 1935. This is considered necessary.

The new section 11 added by clause 7 clarifies the position as to the application of the Ordinance to the New Territories. The section is identical with section 97 of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, No. 15 of 1935.

The power of appeal granted under clauses 12, 13 and 14 is similar to that already possessed by aggrieved persons under sections 84, 85, and 86 of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, No. 15 of 1935, and under sections 161, 162 and 163 of the Buildings Ordinance, No. 18 of 1935. It is considered expedient to extend this right of appeal to the present Ordinance.

SANITATION

The "Gazette" contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, 1935.

It is explained that it is desirable that the principal Ordinance should apply not merely to the City of Victoria but to the whole of the Island of Hongkong. The amendment in clause 2 of the Bill extends the application of the Ordinance to the whole Island.

The definition of "Workshop" is unsuitable in that premises in which less than twenty persons are employed in manual labour do not come within its scope. The amendment in clause 3 of the Bill extends the definition to include all such premises irrespective of the number of persons employed.

It is considered desirable to exercise control not only over premises which are laundries in the accepted sense of the word but also over premises which are merely receiving and distributing depots. Clause 4 of the Bill enables the necessary degree of control to be exercised.

The amendment in clause 5 of the Bill clarifies the manner in which public baths, laundries and wash-houses are to be controlled. The amendment in clause 6, of the Bill enables fees to be charged in connection with every matter with regard to which the Council has power to make by-laws.

POWER OF ENTRY

It is considered necessary to extend the power of entry without

LOCAL DOUBLE WEDDING

Unique Ceremony On Saturday

Two brothers, Mr. George J. Lenz and Mr. Michael G. Lenz were married at the St. Margaret's Church on Saturday to Miss K. Tiu and Miss M. Soonderam, respectively.

The Church was prettily decorated for the ceremony and was the first occasion that a "double" wedding was solemnised.

The bridegrooms are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. G. Lenz of Brooklyn, U.S.A., while Miss K. Tiu was the eldest daughter of Mr. Paul Tiu, chief draughtsman of Messrs. Leigh and Orange, and Miss Soonderam, was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Soonderam, respectively.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Veronica Tiu and Lucy Soonderam, were dressed in Parisian style gown of white satin with veil. Both carried bouquets of gladioli. The Rev. Fr. D. Page officiated, assisted by the Rev. Frs. J. Zillnoll and P. Ngai.

Master Paul Tiu, in a Venetian gondolier style costume, attended Miss Tiu as page. The brides were given away by their respective fathers, while the respective best men were Mr. Winston Joseph Yu, a teacher at La Salle College, and Mr. George Royall, Assistant Scoutmaster, 1st Hong Kong Troop Boy Scouts.

Mrs. A. M. de Souza rendered appropriate music on the organ. After the ceremony a joint reception was held at Lane, Crawford's Ltd., at which many friends honoured the toast to the health and happiness of the two couples.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Lenz are spending their honeymoon in Canton. Mrs. Lenz's going-away dress being of pink and silver lace, in Chinese style, while Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Lenz will spend their honeymoon at the Shum Chun Hotel. The bride's travelling dress was of blue silk, in European style.

notice, which is, at present possessed only by a Health Officer, under section 9 of the principal Ordinance. The amendment in clause 7 of the Bill extends this power to an officer of the Sanitary Department.

Entry is occasionally desirable for other purposes than for ascertaining whether a domestic building is in an overcrowded condition. For example there may be grounds for suspecting that a basement is occupied without permission contrary to section 50 of the Ordinance and entry to ascertain the true condition of affairs may be necessary. This is not provided for under section 13 of the principal Ordinance and clause 8 of the Bill remedies the defect.

By section 22 (1) of the principal Ordinance the Council has power to serve notices directing compliance with by-laws. It is desirable to extend the power to cases of non-compliance with provisions of the Ordinance. Clause 9 enables this to be done. Consequently the amendment of clause 10 follows.

By the proviso to section 36 of the principal Ordinance the Council with the consent of the Governor-in-Council may grant exemption from the requirements of the section. It is considered unnecessary that such applications for exemption should be referred to the Governor-in-Council. The amendment in clause 11 abolishes the need for such reference.

The written permission of the Governor is required before certain acts can be done under sections 74 and 75 of the principal Ordinance. It is considered sufficient to obtain the permission of the Colonial Secretary for the purposes of these acts and the amendments in clauses 11, 12, 13 and 14 enable the necessary change to be made.

APPEAL EXTENSION

The "Gazette" contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Public Health (Animals and Birds) Ordinance, 1935.

The purpose of the amendment effected by this Bill is to grant a right of appeal to the Governor-in-Council to any person dissatisfied with the decision of a person entrusted with power under the Ordinance.

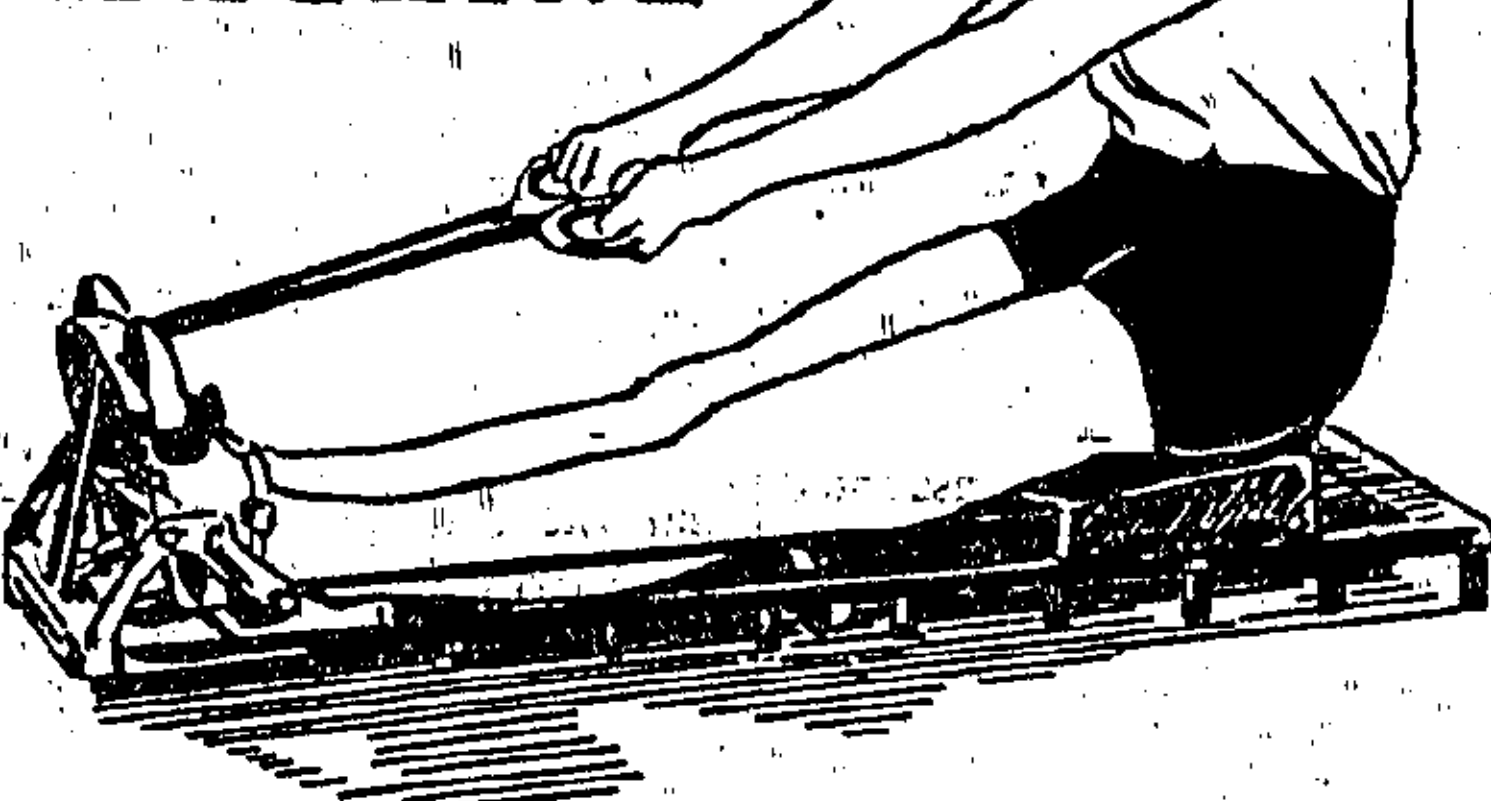

A similar power of appeal is possessed by aggrieved persons under section 84, 85 and 86 of the Public Health (Sanitation) Ordinance, No. 15 of 1935, and under sections 161, 162 and 163 of the Buildings Ordinance, No. 18 of 1935. It is considered expedient to extend this right of appeal to the present Ordinance.

CANTON CURRENCY
INVESTIGATION

Shanghai, August 23.

After staying in Canton for one month to make investigation into the currency situation in Kwangtung before introducing the "big money" system, Messrs. Tang Shou-min and Tsuyee Pei returned here this afternoon aboard the s.s. Empress of Japan.

Arriving aboard the same vessel was Lieut. General Huang Kwang-jui, newly appointed President of the Central Aviation Academy, who recently left for Canton in order to wind up the affairs of the Kwangtung Air Force Headquarters. General Huang, it is learned will proceed to Hangchow to assume his new post shortly.—Central News.

WORKERS TO MARCH
ON HANKOW

Shanghai, August 21.

A march on Hankow to demand their overdue wages from the authorities has been planned by several hundred workers of the Canton-Hankow railway, according to the local "Ta Kung Pao."

These workers have not been paid for the past two months and their wages amount to approximately $700,000.

It is doubtful, however, whether the Canton-Hankow line will be able to meet this outstanding debt in the near future, says the paper.—Union News.

SUN FO'S VIEWS

Nanking, Aug. 24.

Belief that the Kwangsi situation will be peacefully settled if only Generals Li and Pei will give up their provincial ideas was expressed by Dr. Sun Fo who returned here from Kuling to-day aboard the s.s. Kung Ho after a one-month absence.

Dealing with the Kwangtung currency situation, Dr. Sun hoped that the conversion rate for Kwangtung subsidiary notes will soon be fixed in order to prevent speculators from manipulating the exchange value between the subsidiary notes and the legal tender.—Central News.

BRITAIN'S TRADE
INCREASING

Mr. Runciman was able to speak recently with much satisfaction of British trade during the past 12 months, and with quiet confidence of its immediate prospects. The President of the Board of Trade believes that with industrial peace at home and "no major developments of a distracting character abroad" the progress of the last three or four years will continue. The former condition lies entirely within our own control; the latter rests with others, and the dominating motives which have recently determined the course of events on the Continent have not been industrial and commercial. Not till they turn again in that direction can we hope for a real revival of international trade and the removal or mitigation of the restrictive regulations which have so effectively strangled it during the last six years. As Mr. Runciman expects no large-scale improvement in the near future we cannot look for any rapid expansion in British exports. We have to be satisfied with the fact that the improvement continues—it was £1,415,258 in the last six months—and that the rate of British expansion is higher than that of our trade rivals.

With the serious exceptions of cotton and coal our major industries have done extremely well. Mr. Runciman said that cotton was not quite so depressed, but he had little encouragement to offer about the coal export trade. Whether it will be restored with Italy now that Sanctions are removed remains to be seen. "Too much has been made of the effect of Sanctions on the coal trade. The plain fact is that long before Sanctions came into operation our exports of coal to Italy had fallen to small proportions because cash payments were difficult to obtain. Speaking generally, exporters were advised to rest their hopes on the continued expansion of British trade with Empire countries and with foreign countries within the sterling area. The President reported favourably on the results of the many bilateral trade agreements he has carried through.

No change was foreshadowed in the Government's basic commercial policy. None was seriously expected, though an attempt was made in certain quarters to make out a case for a larger volume of protection on the strength of the rapidly rising volume of imports. These were higher by £43,500,000 in the first half of this year than for the same period in 1935. The situation was described by one speaker as "very alarming," and as foreshadowing an inevitable return to the conditions of 1931 which compelled the change over to Protection. But that is a palpable exaggeration. Admittedly, the import returns for the next six months will need to be closely watched by certain industries, if the rate of expansion continues, but for the moment Mr. Runciman's view that "we can afford these additional imports" may be accepted as reasonable. After all, in 1931 the staple industries which are now working to capacity were sunk in the depths of depression, while the market was flooded with

MORE POWERFUL
LEAGUEFrench Proposals
To Geneva

London, Aug. 22.

The French Government has just communicated to the Secretary General of the League of Nations a reply to the wish expressed by the Assembly on July 4, that the Government forward proposals designed to perfect the application of the Covenant principles. The French Government refers to their delegates' declarations before the Assembly where M. Leon Blum, President of the French Council, had affirmed France's attachment to the system of collective security and emphasised the necessity of modifying the Covenant by limiting "to the Powers geographically and politically closest to the attacked Power" the risk of lending military assistance to a State which is the victim of aggression.

M. Yvon Delbos, Minister for Foreign Affairs, had emphasised the necessity of increased the League's authority without sacrificing any of the essential principles of responsibility and collective action contained in the Covenant, but improving the application of the Covenant by seeking a practical method to increase the League's efficacy.

UNANIMITY RULE

It is declared useless to amend the text of the Covenant. Immediate effort must be directed to the conditions for collective action provided by Article XI and the repressive action provided by Article XVI.

The French view considered it necessary to prevent the abuse of the unanimity rule with regard to Article XI, and with regard to Article XVI to ensure closer connection between the measures of economic and financial pressure and the employment of military means, taking into consideration the system of regional agreements.

The French Government's letter declares that they remain faithful to these views, expressed before the Assembly, and reserve the right to give any necessary details later.—British Wireless.

They will be given on alternate days by the Baird and Marconi E. M. system. Experimental programmes will incorporate excerpts from films and also scenes in the studios and in the open air.—British Wireless.

foreign stuff at prices with which no British competition was possible. The building boom, plus Protection, saved the situation from 1931 to 1935, and now intense activity in other directions is being created by the large Government orders in connection with rearmament. All the recognised tests are favourable—employment figures, railway returns, retail sales—and even the blackest spots with one or two exceptions are diminishing in number and intensity.

ROAD MISHAPS
IN BRITAINTransport Ministry
AnalysisHEAVIEST TOLL ON SATURDAY

A report is published by the Ministry of Transport giving an analysis of over 8,300 road accidents in 1935, involving the deaths of nearly 6,500 people. The enquiry which has been undertaken as part of the campaign for road safety followed the same lines as that of 1933 except that for the first time publicity is given to the ascribed causes of accidents on the basis of police reports.

Perhaps the most surprising fact revealed is that Sunday is a day of the week with least accidents. Saturday has the most.

Thirty three per cent of the accidents were the result of collision between moving vehicles and, 47 per cent, of collisions between moving vehicles and pedestrians. Thirty per cent of the accidents occurred at road junctions and 82 per cent on straight roads or open road bends with good sight lines.

From Monday to Friday the hours of the day with the largest number of accidents is between five and six in the evening and the second most dangerous hour is between 10 and 11 at night.

The tables in the report show how the death curve among pedestrians descends rapidly after the age of eleven until it reaches its lowest point between 20 and 25 and then gradually rises again, steepening beyond the age of 50.

Ten per cent of the pedestrians killed were under five, while more than 50 per cent of those killed while crossing the road were 60 years and over.—British Wireless.

PICTURE OF MISERY IN SPANISH TOWNVictims Both Of Nature
And Of Man

London, August 2.

When I saw in the papers that the Government troops had captured Carmona, a little town some 20 miles from Seville, my mind went back to an afternoon which I spent there some three months ago, writes a correspondent. I was taken by a friend, an English artist who wanted to do some sketches beneath its walls. We were to have tea in a cafe in the town.

When we arrived the cafe was in ruins, having been burnt down a few days before, and the streets were crowded. I have never seen men and women on whose faces poverty and bitterness were so deeply stamped. Even my friend, who had lived in Spain ever since the war, admitted that he was relieved when our car was on its way home and we were clear of this fierce curiosity. In foreign towns curiosity is generally neutral or even sympathetic, but in this case its hostility was painfully manifest.

The explanation (continues this correspondent) goes some way to explain what has happened in Spain. These men and women were the victims both of nature and of man. Of nature, for the incessant rain had paralysed agriculture for three months. It is not generally realised how much the new Government in Spain was handicapped by this calamity, the worst spring, as some Spaniards said, for a hundred years.

In consequence money that would have been spent on public works had to go in relief of distress. But they were victims too of man. Andalusia is a country of large estates, and these labourers were among the worst-treated men in Europe. The first Azana Government had passed a law providing a minimum wage, but for the last two years this law had been openly defied, and the large landowners were paying in these parts two instead of five pesetas a day. In other ways their power had been used without mercy.

When I read of towns passing from one side to the other in this terrible struggle I recollect all that I saw and heard of the causes of the fierce hatreds of which Spain is full. To understand the full gravity of Franco's diabolical crime in introducing civil war, and a war embittered by the use of Moors, into Spain it is necessary to remember how deep and explosive these hatreds are. The rising in the Asturias, which the reactionary measures provoked and its cruel repression by Moroccan troops had spread throughout Spain a class war as bitter as any in Europe.

IRAQ SUPPORTS
ARAB CAUSEJewish Encroachment
Resented

Jerusalem, Aug. 21.

The visit here of the Iraq Foreign Minister, who has already met the Palestine Arab leaders, has led to the report that the Arabian rulers contemplate intervention in the prolonged war of tribesmen against constituted authority, backed by British troops.

It is suggested the Iraq Foreign Minister may bring proposals for the settlement of the 'trouble', which is an outgrowth of the Arab resentment against the encroachment of Jews upon land they have considered theirs for centuries. The Arab strike in protest against the continued and encouraged settlement of Jews in Palestine, has grown into a form of guerrilla war which has gone on for months with serious losses in life and property to both sides.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

No Important Change
In SituationINSURGENT CRUISER
IN ACTIONSpasmodic Machine Gun
Fire At Irun

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Paris, August 22.

No change of any importance has taken place in the military situation in Spain during the last 24 hours according to the "Paris Soir." In Irun and San Sebastian everything was quiet except for two hours about noon, when the insurgent cruiser Almirante Cervera suddenly appeared and shelled the fort at Guadalupe which, however, did not return the fire.

From the Franco-Spanish frontier spasmodic machine gun fire was heard from the vicinity of Irun but lasted only a short time. Both sides appear to be consolidating their positions.

Reports from the other fronts are contradictory. The fall of Cordoba announced by Madrid and Barcelona, is denied by the militarists, their radio spokesman, General Queipo de Llano, having declared before the Seville microphone that the insurgent garrison was strong enough to resist any onslaught by the Government troops.

MALAGA BOMBED

Gibraltar, Aug. 22.

The military authorities at Algeciras have received a report that insurgent aircraft dropped incendiary bombs at Malaga and set fire to a petrol depot said to contain a million gallons of petrol. Insurgent troops to the number of 1,500, chiefly foreign legionaries, and 200 cavalry, left Algeciras, Lallina and San Roque for Estepona preparatory to an attack on Malaga.

DEATH OF NEWS

The only war news to-day comes from the Franco-Spanish frontier where the Government forces are completing positions for defence at San Sebastian and where the insurgent cruiser Espana has again been in action, firing on Guadalupe fort.

A telegram from Burgos states that General Mola moved his headquarters to Valladolid, but the national defence junta and nationalist government remain at present at Burgos.

The Madrid press do not exercise the same frankness, the executions being published under the somewhat euphemistic phrase "the following died in Madrid to-day."

BURGOS MESSAGES

Hendaye, Aug. 22.

The Burgos radio announces that the insurgents are still holding out in the historic fortress of Alcazar in Toledo which is otherwise in the hands of Government forces.

A private message from Burgos states that only the headquarters of the northern insurgent army is moving to Valladolid, the "National Defence Committee" remaining in Burgos.

General Mola declared that the coming week will "bring the movement to all the fronts."

Marseilles, Aug. 22.

An uncensored letter received from Madrid dated August 18 states that the situation at the capital is rapidly growing worse. Citizens live in daily fear of attack either by heavy artillery or by air and the only railway line out of the city in working order is that through to Alicante, while Valencia has been out of communication by rail for the last three days.

A feeling of apprehension of what is about to happen hangs over Madrid, where food is running short and prices are prohibitive. Shooting aristocrats and known members of various right parties are of daily occurrence. The morgue is piled high with dead, some being the bodies of mutilated girls. There is a fairly brisk trade in the rescue of Spanish aristocrats. The price charged varies between £1,000 and £10,000 according to wealth.

IRUN FIGHTING

London, Aug. 21.

Lively fighting has occurred around Irun, where both sides are feverishly entrenching themselves. According to a message from Hendaye a Government armoured train participated in the fighting, while rebels tried to force a passage along the Irun Road with armoured cars.

Four shells from rebel batteries fell on the French Consul's villa at Irun, but there were no casualties. Meanwhile, the insurgents continue to rush troops from the South to the northern front. A battalion of Moroccan sharpshooters arrived at Burgos from Seville and immediately left again for an unknown destination.

General Millan Astray, founder of the Spanish Foreign Legion and the hero of the Rif war, to-day reviewed 2,000 of his shock troops of the Spanish Phalanx at Burgos, before their departure for the front. It is estimated there are now 200,000 of this well-disciplined organization in northern Spain.

Paris, Aug. 21.

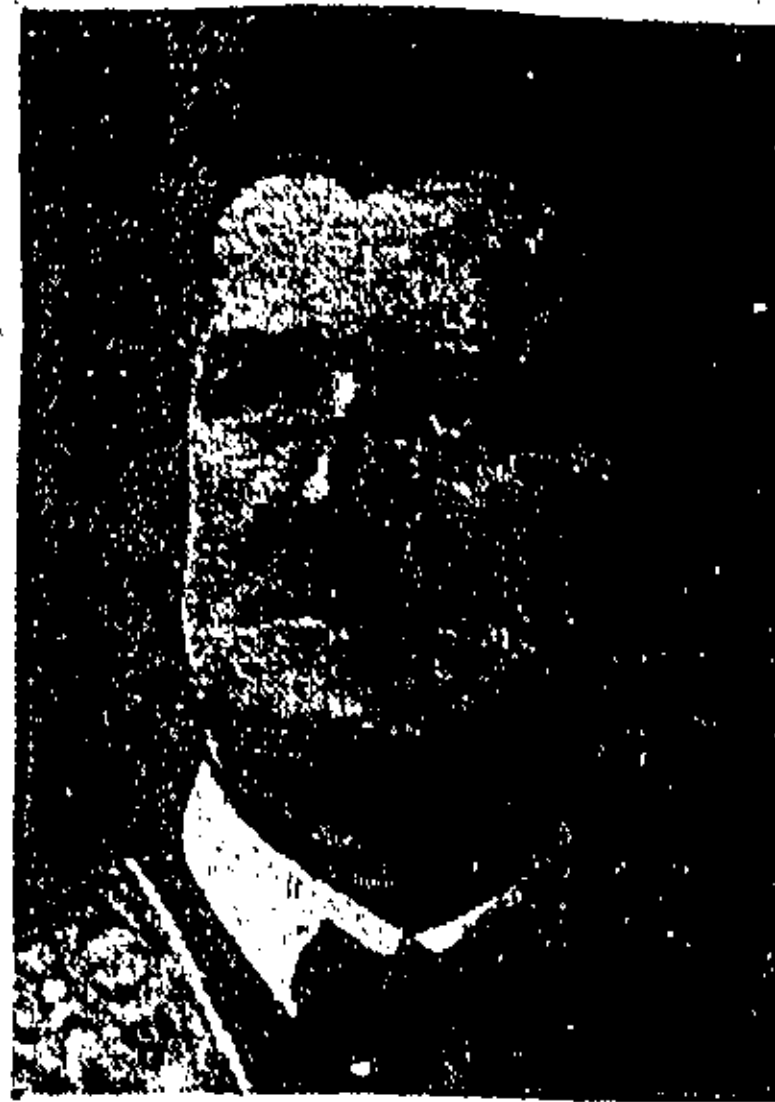

The battle of Irun is still raging. The attack of the Nationalists was beaten back by the Government troops in a sanguinary hand-to-hand fight. The armoured train on the line from Irun to Behovia on the French frontier played a prominent part in the battle, which continued into the afternoon without pronounced success for either side. The losses on both sides are heavy.

Shells flew over the frontier and exploded on French territory, but no special damage was done.

Violations

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

London, August 22.

A representative of the provisional Nationalist Government at Burgos has addressed a note to the Portuguese Government and foreign diplomats in Lisbon, which asserts that several planes of the squadron of 15 planes which attacked the Nationalist positions on the Guadarrama front bore clearly distinguishing marks attesting that they were planes of French origin.

The note also claims that other French planes dropped bombs on the insurgents at Faoa and other places on the San Sebastian front, returning to their base in France after the bombardment. The note moreover declares that the loyalist forces on the San Sebastian front are using a great deal of war material of French origin.

The Burgos Government adds that it is in a position to provide the Portuguese and other Governments with other evidence supporting the charges.

The note concludes by appealing to the "chivalry" of the foreign Powers to put an end to this violation of international law.

FIFTH WEEK OF CIVIL WARRough Survey Of The Position

Madrid, Aug. 22.

With the conclusion of the fifth week of the civil war, the outcome is likely to be much more distant than can be foreseen at present. The positions of the rival forces in the four principal areas so far are roughly as follows:

In the north both sides are digging in on a long front round Irun. At San Sebastian, pending a big battle, long-range shelling is proceeding. Oviedo has not yet fallen, and additional Moorish troops have arrived at Burgos from the south.

In the south the insurgents claim that a junction has been established between Seville and Granada. The Government state that their troops are advancing towards Granada, and a decisive battle is expected soon.

In the west the capture of Alcantara near Badajoz is claimed by the insurgents. The Government allege that troops marching to the relief of Badajoz have captured Guadalupe.

In the Madrid area the Government announces successes in the fighting in the Guadarrama battle. The insurgents claim that they will shortly have 20,000 additional troops at Sierra ready to march to the capital.

The situation in other parts of the country remains stationary.

NEUTRALITY IN CIVIL WARItalian Attitude
WelcomedKAMERUN AFFAIR
DEPLORED

London, August 22.

The news of the note handed yesterday evening by the Italian Government to the French Ambassador in Rome, in which Italy undertakes to prohibit the export, re-export or transit to Spain, Spanish possessions and the Spanish zone in Morocco of arms, munitions and war material, including aircraft assembled or not assembled, as soon as France, Great Britain, Portugal, Germany and Russia have all done or are ready to do the same, is printed prominently and with favourable comment in this morning's newspapers.

Describing it as a "promising reply" and noting that its main condition is already fulfilled save for the final adhesion of Germany, the "Times" deplores the fact that "just when Italy has agreed to come into line, the negotiations in Berlin have been interrupted by the unfortunate incident of the Kamerun. But," it adds, "even with this obstacle a sense of perspective should ensure the speedy settlement and completion of the non-intervention ring."

FRANCE PRAISED

The "Daily Herald," with the news of the Italian acceptance of non-intervention, declares that M. Blum is entitled to Europe's thanks. It points out, with reference to the Kamerun incident and the natural German irritation, that the Spanish insurgent forces shelled a British yacht, killing a British subject, and bombed a French town, but neither the British nor the French Governments allowed these incidents to affect their attitude to the principle of non-intervention.

ITALIAN PRESS COMMENT

Rome, Aug. 22.

The Italian reply to the French neutrality proposals constitutes, in the opinion of the "Messaggero," an important contribution by the Italian Government to the cause of European order in general and the cause of neutrality as regards the events in Spain in particular. The paper hopes that general agreement on the subject will be rapidly reached and strictly adhered to.

The paper proceeds to stress that the Italian reply maintains Italy's standpoint in the question of indirect interference, and that it further proposes that public subscriptions and the recruiting of volunteers on behalf of either of the warring parties should be prohibited.

The "Messaggero" protests against the co-existence, in one and the same country, of two different policies, namely, of the Government on the one hand and of private organisations on the other. Such conditions, says the paper, render all international decisions highly dubious, since they must operate to the disadvantage of those Governments which assume binding obligations.

ITALIAN ACCEPTANCE

Rome, Aug. 21.

Sudden and unexpected diplomatic activity has occurred here, the purpose of which is that Italy has accepted the French text of the Spanish neutrality agreement.

Italy had addressed a question to France on the subject, but, without awaiting the reply, Count Ciano, the Italian Foreign Minister, to-night summoned the French Ambassador and handed him a note giving full acceptance to the French proposals, and promising to give effect thereto, when the French, British, Portuguese, German and Soviet Governments had accepted.

Count Ciano added a warning that the raising of public subscriptions and voluntary enlistments in certain countries were likely to disturb international relations.

CONSPIRACY TRIAL
CLIMAXACCUSED ECHO DEMAND
OF PROSECUTIONDeath For Treason To Working Class

Moscow, August 22.

The conspiracy trial reached a climax to-day when the accused echoed the demand of the state prosecutor, M. Vishinsky, that they should be shot and only begged to be allowed to say goodbye to the workers.

Their attitude was typified by that of Mrachovsky, ex-commander of the Red Army, who at the close of his evidence begged death "for treason to the working class." Then he broke down and wept bitterly and had to be carried out by police attendants.

MONSTROUS CRIME

Zinovieff and Kameneff, the men who made history as the leaders of the Bolshevik revolution, sat weeping with their fellow-prisoners, also in a state of collapse, as the prosecutor, M. Vishinsky, demanded their death sentence at to-day's session of the conspiracy trial.

"This society of political murderers, these beasts, must pay with their heads for their monstrous crime against the fatherland," declared M. Vishinsky. Earlier in the proceedings Fritz David, a young German emigre and follower of Marx, related how he went to Berlin and Copenhagen to see Trotsky, and said that the latter told him of two methods by which the Trotskyites might come to power—a Russian defeat in a war with Japan, or the killing of M. Stalin.

MURDER ATTEMPT

The second method was considered more practicable, and David was instructed to kill M. Stalin at the 13th plenary session of the Executive Committee of the Comintern, but M. Stalin did not attend the meeting and the attempt was postponed until the seventh congress of the Comintern last year. He then got as far as aiming a gun at M. Stalin, but did not fire as he was too far away and was unnerved by the tremendous ovation given to the dictator.

After this two messengers visited him from Sedoff, Trotsky's son in Berlin, rebuking him for his delay and ordering him to assassinate M. Stalin immediately.

men sit about in the directors' board-room, smoking cigars. Escaped nuns are going from house to house, asking to be taken in as maids. Groups of two or three of them, dressed as servants, are to be met continually in the streets. Their hair, obviously long, covered from the sun, and the paleness of their faces in a land of swarthy skins, make disguise almost useless, and most of them are homeless.

MOB'S MADNESS

The morbid taste of the crowd is being catered for by an exhibition of dead nuns in the yard of the burned-out convent of Monte Sion, in the Rambla Catalana. A dozen corpses are exposed in their coffins, their shrouds pulled away.

One of the coffins is marked 1824, but, although the skins are almost black and exposure to the sun is rapidly speeding-up the process of decomposition, they are still recognisably women.

The guide prods them with a stick and informs the crowd that they were murdered by the priests so that their condition should not be known. The obvious explanation, that centuries ago the convent had its private burial ground, is ignored.

The spectacle of these dozen poor women, disturbed from their graves and exposed to the amusement of the crowd, did more than anything else to make me realise the extent of the madness of the crowd.

RADIO RIVALRY

While all this is going on the wireless is continually broadcasting the announcement that all is completely normal and tranquil. The anti-Government broadcasting station at Seville reports unchecked victories and the Government also has nothing but successes to report.

As news the wireless is completely valueless. As a study in panic propaganda it is most instructive.

In point of fact the Fascists have held their own in Seville, Cordova, Segovia, Burgos, Saragossa, Morocco and the Balearic and Canary Islands. The Government hold Madrid and Barcelona.

Until Madrid is taken by the anti-Government forces, or Saragossa by the Government, there seems little chance of any real change in the situation.

BRAVE NEW WORLD

Twenty Two Years Ago And To-day

London, August 4.

Few people remembered that this day was the anniversary of the beginning of the "brave new world," yet it was twenty-two years ago on such a full-moon night as this that Britain entered the Great War. Had that war ended in the peace that the world hoped for this would have been a day that people would have remembered and celebrated. Instead the mind of Europe is overhung with thoughts of the future, and August 4, 1914, is forgotten. Who would have thought on Armistice Day, 1918, that in 1936 England would be trying on gas-masks and organising gas-proof shelters for civilians?

This year one thing turned the thoughts of many of us back to the early war years: the Canadians in their mustard-coloured berets who were here last week after the unveiling of Mr. Allward's memorial on the Vimy Ridge—surely the most passionate of all the memorials of the Great War?

RETURN OF CANADIANS

The sight of these men in their crowds in the London streets recalled vividly the war London, with its darkness and rumours. They are middle-aged now and had little of the soldier about them except the medals they all wore—I saw several with six—and the look of men who had come through a lot. One remembered that it was the Canadians who withstood the first gas attack in the war and how their heroism thrilled England at the time. Many of them had a puzzled look in their eyes as they went about the new monumental London that had replaced so much of the homely London that was in their memories. Some of them were taking their sons to hotels and restaurants that have long since disappeared, such as the Tavistock Hotel in Covent Garden and the Golden Cross at Charing Cross. They were relieved when they could show their sons St. Paul's and the Cheshire Cheese.

Now the Canadians have vanished too back to the land whence they had come so manfully and hopefully in 1914. The thing that many of them took back in their minds was that the men here still take off their hats as they pass the Cenotaph.

He is vice-chairman of the Post Office Board, which was created in 1934 further to modernize the organization of the Department. A year ago he was appointed a member of the "Council of Action" for the development of civil aviation in the United Kingdom. The task of the council was to take into account the requirements of the Post Office for air mails. He was a member of the delegation which conferred at Ottawa with the Canadian Government last November on the question of a transatlantic air service.

Sir Thomas Gardner, who entered the Post Office as an assistant surveyor in 1906, is 52. For some years he was private secretary to Sir Evelyn Murray, a former Secretary to the Post Office. After being employed at the Ministry of Reconstruction, where he was engaged on transport and allied problems, he returned to the Post Office in 1919 as an Assistant Controller in the London Postal Service. In 1926 he succeeded Sir Charles Sanderson as Controller of the London Postal Service, and in 1934 was appointed Deputy Director-General.

PROTESTS BY GERMANY

Moscow And Madrid Criticised

Berlin, Aug. 22. The sharp protests lodged with the Governments of Moscow and Madrid once more make it clear that Germany, in no circumstances is willing to tolerate without protest the continual provocations of Bolshevik agents and their systematic defamation of Herr Adolf Hitler and his Government. The leading National-Socialist organ, the "Voelkischer Beobachter," in a leading article commenting on the vigorous protest lodged by the German Ambassadors in Russia and Spain concerning the anti-German propaganda campaign carried out by the broadcasting stations of Moscow and Madrid during the last few weeks.

"If Moscow and Madrid are unable to behave like civilised States, the Bolsheviks must be brought to realise this," continues the paper, which warmly approves the steps taken by the German Government. Other papers likewise express gratification that the German Government is no longer willing to tolerate the unscrupulous anti-German propaganda campaign abroad, which is trying to stir up hatred against the Germans by misrepresentation of the facts. "The aim of the German diplomatic action is to safeguard the rights and dignity of the Reich," declares the "Berliner Tageblatt," which expresses the opinion that the warning to the Governments of Moscow and Madrid had become absolutely necessary, in view of the recent events. The Berlin "Lokalanzeiger" writes: "National-Socialist Germany disposes of sufficient means to make it clear to the liars in Moscow, Madrid and Barcelona that they are trying to excuse their own crimes by blaming us. The protest, however, was also necessary to protect the lives of those German nationals who still remain in Spain."

ITALIAN NOTE TO FRANCE

Rome, Aug. 21. A semi-official statement was issued in Rome, which announces that the Foreign Minister handed the French Ambassador a note on Friday in which Italy binds itself under certain conditions to prohibit direct or indirect export, re-export or transit from and to Spain, the Spanish possessions and Spanish Morocco, of arms, ammunition and war material including planes, either already assembled or in parts, and warships, and to apply this prohibition to all orders in process of execution. The conditions stipulated correspond to the Italian standpoint regarding the "indirect" intervention, namely the public collecting of money, and the recruitment of volunteers. This obligation, it is announced, will become binding for Italy as soon as the French, British, Portuguese, German and Soviet Russian Governments have also subscribed to it. Moreover, the Italian Government thinks it essential that the other important European states with an armament industry also undertake these obligations.

CLEANING UP IN PALESTINE

Jerusalem, Aug. 22. The military are vigorously cleaning up the coastal regions. Six more Arabs were killed yesterday, bringing yesterday's total of Arab dead to 42, including those killed the day before and near Hedra on Thursday.

EQUESTRIAN EVENT

Berlin, Aug. 22. The jury in the endurance test of the Olympic three days "military" equestrian event decided to disqualify the Polish team, because Captain Kawecky failed to round the marker after the jump. This changes the final results. England gaining second place with the Gold Medal and Czechoslovakia the third place with the Silver Medal.

THE KAMERUN INCIDENT

Premier's Statement Resented

Berlin, August 22. Informed German circles take exception to the statement made by the Spanish Premier Giral to the "Daily Telegraph's" Madrid correspondent to the effect that the Spanish Government does not contemplate taking any disciplinary measures regarding the Kamerun incident, since the German steamer was halted and searched by the Spanish warship within the three-mile limit of the Spanish coast. The German vessel was moreover found to be carrying petrol, the importation of which is prohibited into Spain. It is stressed here that the Premier's statement is incompatible with the established fact that the German merchant vessel's position when halted by the Spanish cruiser and submarine was 7 1/2 miles from Cadiz and that the ship was carrying no war material whatsoever.

GERMAN NAVY IN SPANISH WATERS

No Increase Contemplated

Berlin, Aug. 21. It is officially stated that Germany has no intention of increasing the number of her warships along the Spanish coast. The warships now en route to Spain will replace those at present serving in Spanish waters. Since July, about 4,000 Germans have been evacuated from Spain. Only about fifty remain at Madrid and there are a few others at Bilbao and Gijon. Admiral Raeder is remaining at Berchtesgaden in order to have a further interview with Herr Adolf Hitler.

SEARCH INCIDENTS

London, Aug. 21. It is learned in German circles that prior to the searching of the steamer Kamerun at sea by Spanish warships, two German merchantmen were detained at Spanish ports. But the German Government did not take any action in these because the ships were detained within the three-mile limit. It appears the Spanish Government still refuses to return the German Lufthansa aeroplane seized recently.

DUTY ALLOTMENTS

Berlin, Aug. 21. Following the Kamerun incident off the Spanish coast, the battleship Admiral Scheer, as well as the torpedo boats Fuchs and Leopard have been instructed to go on duty on the route from Malaga through the Straits of Gibraltar to the Cape St. Vincent, in order to protect merchantmen. The battleship Deutschland and the torpedo boats Kondor and Moewe were ordered on the Spanish Mediterranean coast to protect refugees embarking from Spanish harbours. The cruiser Koeln and the torpedo boats Albatros and Seeadler are on duty off the Biscayan coast.

It is announced at Liverpool that, up till noon to-day the Queen Mary steamed, on her second day's run from Cherbourg to New York 760 miles, at an average speed of 30.4 knots—the best second day's run by the Queen Mary to date. The total mileage from the beginning of this voyage up till noon to-day was 1,224 miles at an average speed of 30.5 knots.

ATROCITIES IN SPAIN

Shocking Account In The Press

Paris, Aug. 22. A shocking account of the atrocities perpetrated in the Spanish civil war is given in a report published by the paper "El Pesarimiento Navarro" in Pamplona. The report states that when the Nationalist troops belonging to the Spanish Foreign Legion at Morocco entered the Andalusian town of Cazalla they gave no quarter to the Red garrison, whom they literally exterminated in order to avenge the deaths of 188 civilians previously murdered by the Reds.

A message from Burgos to the Agency Radio states that before evacuating the town of Almedralejo in Estremadura the Marxist troops barricaded the prison in which 50 political prisoners were interned, and then proceeded to set fire to the building, with the result that all the prisoners were burnt alive.

RED TERROR VICTIMS

London, Aug. 22. Three of Spain's greatest dramatists and an outstanding painter were murdered by Communists in Madrid, according to a radio announcement from Sevilla.

Jacinto Benavente, Nobel Prize winner in 1922, the Quinteco brothers as well as the artist Ignacio Zuloaga were victims of the Red terror.

GOVERNMENT FORCE SUCCESS

Action On Guadarama Front

Paris, Aug. 21. The Headquarters of the Nationalists in Burgos confirm the report that Government troops have inflicted a defeat on them in the action on the Guadarama front at Naval Peral, even admitting the capture of seven field guns and 20 machine guns. The Nationalists have also acknowledged that the initiative in this sector, especially near Saragossa, is on the side of the Government forces. On the other hand it is confirmed that Cartagena is now in the hands of the Nationalists, the garrison of that town having mutinied against the Government, and the example of the soldiers was followed by the aviators.

Besides announcing a victory at Naval Peral 20 kilometres east of Avila, which is stated to be the second success in this vicinity within 24 hours, Madrid reports that the Government forces continued their advance on Saragossa and are exerting a strong pressure on the Nationalists. It is declared that the Nationalists will soon have to abandon the effort to capture the capital.

KING'S HOLIDAY CRUISE

London, Aug. 22. A message from Athens this afternoon reports that the yacht Nahlin in which the King is on a holiday cruise left Corfu early to-day for the Island of Zante.

DETROIT CHARGES OF TERRORISM

Detroit, Aug. 21. Virgil Effinger, described by the prosecution as the national head of the Black Legion, was indicted with twenty-one others on charges of connection with a criminal syndicate and terrorist activities. They are accused of advocating or teaching "crime, sabotage, violence or other forms of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political reforms." The maximum penalty under this section of the American Criminal Code is ten years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine. The conspiracy charge included in the indictment carries a sentence of five years' imprisonment.

CONGRATULATIONS to every man and woman { whose teeth are still perfect whose hair is still healthy whose nerves are still steady whose vitality is still buoyant

They've escaped the most common complaint of civilised people—a shortage of minerals in the body. Teeth were meant to last a lifetime, hair to retain its colour and luxuriance, and the heart and nervous system should give carefree service for 'three-score years and ten'.

But teeth, hair, nerves and muscles depend for well-being on the millions of cells of which the body is made up. These cells must have plenty of minerals to keep them strong; any shortage weakens them and you soon feel the effect in every organ of your body. Kalzana supplies the body with all the minerals it requires, in an easily absorbed form. Therefore, the effects of Kalzana are quickly felt in increased vitality, better appetite, soothed nerves. Soon the whole system is toned up. The teeth regain strength and hardness and decay is arrested. Radiant health returns—to stay. Start taking Kalzana without delay—give it to your children too.

"I am never without Kalzana, not taking them always, but at any time of extra strain, and when there are infections about. I find my resistance to disease and my general health marvellous."

Miss A. M. — Wolverhampton.

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly Review

PHILIPPINE SHARES ACTIVITY

Saturday, Aug. 22.
Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co.'s Weekly share report and market review issued at noon to-day states:—

A week of sparkling activity in both local and Philippine shares has kept brokers very busy and happy (and we hope that clients too are cheerful). Early on in the week Manila stocks monopolised attention, but on Thursday and Friday local shares claimed their share of the business passing and by the close of the week trading became very brisk, with an upward swing in a market somewhat reminiscent of last January. A very firm close characterised the Hong-kong market and Manila also finished up steady after several days of widely fluctuating quotations.

Among Hong Kong shares keen enquiries for Utilities raised the price of Electric to $53½. Telephones (old) to $7½ and the "new" to $9. H. K. Trams came up to $12.30. Lights (old) steadily climbed to $12.30 but Star Ferries moved slowly to a closing rate of $88. Cement—a popular counter, whenever our market takes a spurt—were bought up to $10.25 and Ropes were taken at $3.40, with buyers over. Hotels came in for considerable attention and had a long delayed spurt to close $5.35 strong cash and $5.50 October buyers. Lands are wanted at $33½ ex div and Realities @ $4.30, after sales at this. Wharves made $100 and (old) and Docks $14. Providents (old) improved again to $1.65 and the new were bought at 10 cts. Dairy Farms are now $21½ bid and Watsons have several enquiries @ $3.60 or offer. The miscellaneous list is without special feature.

MANILA BUSY
In Philippine shares business has been fairly widely spread over all the popular descriptions, and quite a number of transactions have also to be recorded in several shares which are quoted among the "unlisted" stocks in the Manila Exchange. Suyoco, justified our confidence and a big business was done in this now popular share up to 80 cts., the closing quotations being 76 cts.-78 cts. Demonstrations are rather easier, and cash and Settlement shares are offered at something over $1.60. San Mauricos are around $3.05 and United Paracales $2.45. Big Wedge, Baguio and Benguet Explorations are all under last week's closing @ 61 cts., 56 cts. and 42 cts. respectively. Consolidated Mines have had active exchanges at prices ranging from 9½ cts. to 12 cts., closing @ 10 cts. (ex rights) buyers. Ipos improved at one time to 43 cts. but had closing sales @ 40 cts. ex div. Paracale Gumaus fluctuated widely in Manila, at one time reaching 83 centavos but closing @ 70 centavos. However there has been little business done in this share locally.

The tone of the market at the close is most encouraging and has a definite upward trend in all sections.
